As a user I want to be able to reset password so that I can have access to my profile

The screenshot shows the Jira software interface for a project named "HAFM Project". The left sidebar includes sections for PLANNING (Timeline, Backlog, Board, Add view), DEVELOPMENT (Code, Project pages, Project settings), and a user icon. The main area is titled "Backlog" under "Projects / HAFM Project". It features a search bar, filter buttons for "os" and "Epic", and a button to "Create". A sidebar on the left lists various backlog items: Onboarding, Appointments, Resources, Manage Appointments, Tracking Menstrual cycle, Exercise and Fitness, Nutrition Diet, and Customer Support. The main workspace shows an "HP Sprint 1" section with a placeholder for planning work. At the bottom, there's a "+ Create issue" section with "Bug" and "Story" options, a "Create sprint" button, and a note stating "Your backlog is empty.". A user story is listed at the bottom: "As a user I want to be able to reset password so that I can have access to my profile". Two red arrows highlight specific elements: one pointing to the "Story" option in the backlog sidebar, and another pointing to the user story at the bottom of the backlog.

Red arrows point to the OS icon in the header, the OS icons on the cards, the None dropdown, the Insights button, and the View settings button.

The screenshot shows a Jira software project titled "HAFM Project" with a board named "Onboarding". The board has four columns: "TO DO", "IN DEVELOPMENT", "IN STAGING", and "IN QUALITY ASSURANCE". Each column contains three cards. The first card in each column is highlighted with a blue border. Red arrows point to several UI elements: the "OS" icon in the top right corner of the header bar; the "OS" icons next to the issue keys (HP-10, HP-9, HP-11) on the cards; the "None" dropdown menu under the "GROWTH" section; the "Insights" and "View settings" buttons at the top right of the board area; and the "Complete sprint" button in the top right corner of the board header.
